

Our New, 2023/24, Season!

Join us for three compelling plays this year—all with the theme of truth and consequences.

In Judgment at Nuremberg, justice itself goes on trial when Nazi judges are dragged before the international court. The Hatmaker's Wife explores the old adage, "If walls could talk . . ." when a young woman moves into a very strange old house. And finally, in Dov and Ali, a Jewish teacher and his Muslim student learn first hand the sacrifices required to keep the faith.

Our 31st. season will delight, entertain, and inspire you. All shows are at GRCC's Spectrum Theater, 160 Fountain St NE Grand Rapids 49503

Individual ticket prices: $28
Seniors: $25, Students: $10

Friend Us

Jewish Theatre is a cultural resource that wouldn't exist without the generosity of our donors. Presenting quality drama that resonates and educates is an expensive venture that ticket sales alone cannot fund. Each year, nearly 100 actors, directors, designers, stagehands and other volunteers craft an experience that only live theater can produce—but your help is needed to sustain this theater company. Please consider making a generous donation to Jewish Theatre Grand Rapids.

It's easy to make a donation when you order your Season Flex Pass using the form in this brochure or the on-line box office on our website. Scan this code or connect to JTGR.org for instant access. Thank you!

Judgment at Nuremberg began as a controversial teleplay then became a hit movie when it starred Spencer Tracy, Burt Lancaster, Maximilian Schell and Judy Garland and finally, a Broadway production. It focuses on the military trial of Judge Ernest Janning, one of the most influential German legal minds of the pre-WWII era. Issues at the forefront of this true story reverberate through history and challenge humanity to this day.

"A powerful work of art."

- THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Hatmaker's Wife follows a young woman who moves with her boyfriend into an old house that just doesn't feel quite like home. Soon, a talking wall—who has witnessed much—offers its wisdom. It tells a magical tale of a brooding old hatmaker and his long-suffering wife. This sweet and surreal story bends time and space to bring home the value of family and true love.

"Ms. Yee — brings a courageous, childlike conviction to her fey land of make-believe."

- THE NEW YORK TIMES

Dov and Ali — an Orthodox Jewish teacher and his precocious Muslim student—find common ground when they're caught in a cultural and religious crossfire. Both face the same choice: to abandon their faith for love and face the consequence, or to remain steadfast and suffer great loss.

"An intense, intelligent and hugely promising play that plays out clashes of belief systems in the classroom." —GUARDIAN (UK)
